

Did you know.....

That a unique type of tiny antibody produced by llamas could provide a new frontline treatment against Covid-19?

Research led by scientists at the Rosalind Franklin Institute has shown that nanobodies – a smaller, simple form of antibody generated by llamas and camels – can effectively target the SARS-CoV-2 virus that causes Covid-19.